

Community Futures Development Corporation
of Middlesex County

PRESS RELEASE

June 3, 2009

TOURISM GUIDE, “MIDDLESEX – WE’RE ON THE WAY”

Are you looking for ways to have a great day out on one tank of gas? Check out the 2009 tourism guide for Middlesex County. Appropriately named, “Middlesex – We’re on the Way”, the guide can be found at travel and tourism information centres, libraries, and municipal offices throughout London – Middlesex or you can go online to view the guide at www.middlesextourism.ca

The colourful magazine has over 50 pages of places to visit and includes event listings, such as upcoming festivals, community yard sales, Canada Day celebrations, country fairs, and parades.

“Middlesex - We’re on the Way” offers easy access to agri-tourism, farm gate fresh organic produce, markets & bakeries. You don’t have to go far out of the city to find family fun at U Pick berry farms, some of which offer petting zoos and wagon rides. Plan to spend a relaxing afternoon browsing through your choice of unique specialty shops, arts and crafts, antiques & collectibles locations.

Follow our Heritage Trails and step back in time to the early 1800’s to discover sights were pioneers fought for freedom, rights and sovereignty. Or step further into the past; go back 1,000 years to a recreated First Nations village, located just 10 minutes west of London on Longwoods Road.

If golfing is your favourite way to relax, you’ll be spoiled for choice when you discover the many options available in Middlesex County. Dining destinations, spas, bed & breakfasts and campgrounds may entice you extend your stay for the entire weekend.

The tourism guide, produced by the Community Futures Development Corporation (CFDC), can be picked up from their office in the Kilworth Business Park, located at 22423 Jefferies Road, Unit 6, located just off Glendon Drive.

If you would like multiple copies of the tourism guide, call CFDC at 519-641-6100 or toll free 1-866-205-1188. Visit www.middlesextourism.ca for more details. Happy daytripping!

For more information contact:

Community Futures Development Corporation of Middlesex County
Cara Finn, General Manager 519-641-6100 cfinn@cfdcmiddlesex.on.ca